PROCEDURES:

Officers must be concerned with the safety of all officers in the station as well as the suspect during the interview and/or interrogation process. Suspects who are not in custody should be interviewed in the public interview room, when practical. 3. Officers may use portable radios or in-house telephones to summons assistance if necessary. [42.2.10(d)]

To allow for the comfort of subjects, and to limit accusations of undue intimidation of those being interviewed or interrogated:

1. Generally, no more than two officers should be present in the room. [42.2.10(c)]
2. All interviews and interrogations shall be conducted outside of public view.
3. Upon request, subjects must be allowed reasonable access to restrooms, drinking water and rest breaks. [42.2.10(f)]

2. Seating for the subject and officers;
3. Standard overhead lighting;
4. Comfortable heat level;
